

Applied Sciences in Dentistry

Scientific Journal, Faculty of Dentistry of the Universidad de Valparaíso

Copyright transfer agreement for published articles

Manuscript Title:

Authors:

The act of sending an article for publication in Applied Sciences in Dentistry involves the transfer of copyright. Therefore, the author expresses acceptance of the following terms related to the article:

- The author guarantees the authorship and originality of this article.
- The copyright of this article is transferred to the Applied Sciences in Dentistry. The corresponding author of this article accepts the responsibility to assign on behalf of each and every one of the authors. The transfer of copyright the grant to Applied Sciences in Dentistry exclusive right to reproduce and distribute the article, including reprints, translations, photographic reproductions and any media whether online or not.
- The author has the right to use this article in future works, including lectures, reviews, etc., as long as indicates its publication in Applied Sciences in Dentistry.
- The author authorizes to Applied Sciences in Dentistry to include the article in catalogs, databases or any other repository of information from institutions and organizations that have the authorization to include content from the journal.
- Applied Sciences in Dentistry will prepare the article for publication and reserves the right to make editorial changes required to adapt the article to standard publication.

Name and assignment of corresponding author